Woody Weed Control - Ken- Zon

Sifton bush, also known as the 'Chinese shrub' is a perennial shrub native to Australia. It has one main stem with multiple smaller stems branching off this. It typically grows between 1 and 2 m tall but has been known to grow to 3 m. Seedlings are quite erect and resemble tiny pine trees. Sifton bush produces small yellow flower buds from November to April. Some 2000 million to 4000 million seeds can be produced by a single bush depending on density of plans. The seeds are light and wind can distribute them over large areas. It is invasive in pasture and on roadsides, especially in shallow, infertile acid soils. The easiest way to remove a small infested patch would be to pull the weed out by hand. For more extensive infestations use Ken-Zon. Available in a 5 & 20 Litres.

Timing

Sifton Bush is controlled by foliar application and the plants need to be actively growing for optimal effect.

Olsson's Calcium Molasses

Olsson's Calcium Molasses is aimed at cattle, sheep, goats and deer being fed grain as part or all of the feed ration. This block is designed to provide calcium and protein to assist digestion and improve conversion rates. Calcium counteracts the effects of high phosphorus levels in grain, balancing the calcium : phosphorus ratio. Calcium Molasses is beneficial in the prevention of lambing sickness and milk fever. Grain feeds are imbalanced as they are deficient in protein, minerals and vitamins and since they are highly lignified their digestibility is low.

Both these characteristics keep intake and productivity low. The use of Olsson's Calcium Molasses is beneficial in balancing the deficiency, leading to improved production rates.
